TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICES

Tariffs to be regulated.

dominant with respect to a telecommunications network or a telecommunications service where, individually or jointly with others, it enjoys a position of economic strength affording it the power to behave to an appreciable extent independently of competitors and customers.

(2) In making a determination as to dominance, the Commission shall take account of the following -

- (a) the Commission shall initiate a public consultation by publishing a notice in the Gazette, a local newspaper of wide circulation in Dominica, and on the Commission's website, declaring the provider to be dominant and setting out the reasons for making the declaration, and allow a period of not less than 30 but not more than 90 days for the submission of comments by interested persons;

(3) Except that the Commission shall only be required to establish the level of a provider's market share under regulation 15 for a presumption of dominance to arise, where a provider is presumed dominant, the Commission shall be entitled to impose a price regulation regime on the services provided by such a provider, unless the provider is able to prove to the satisfaction of the Commission, in the course of a public consultation under regulation 15, that it is not actually dominant in the relevant market.

Provider to apply for tariff approval pending final declaration of dominance.

18. Notwithstanding regulation 31, the Commission may direct a telecommunications provider to apply for approval of a proposed change to an existing tariff, where a notice under regulation 16(2)(a) has been published by the Commission.

19. (1) Where a telecommunications provider, designated dominant by the Commission under regulation 15, or deemed dominant under regulation 16, considers that it has lost its dominance with respect to a telecommunications network or a telecommunications service, it may apply to the Commission to have its status as a dominant provider reviewed, on such terms and according to such procedures as the Commission may determine, acting on a recommendation from ECTEL.

(2) A telecommunications provider seeking a review of its status as a dominant provider shall furnish the Commission with any supporting information and data the Commission may regard as relevant to the review, and the Commission shall not consider an application to review a designation of dominance, where such information or data has not been supplied by the provider.

(3) Where the Commission after conducting a review is satisfied that a provider has lost its dominance in respect of a relevant market, the Commission shall publish a notice in the Gazette, at least one local newspaper of wide circulation in Dominica and on the Commission's website, designating the provider as non-dominant in a particular market and the designation shall take effect as from the date of publication.

(4) The Commission shall not designate a provider as non-dominant unless ECTEL recommends accordingly.

20. (1) For the purpose of imposing any special restrictions or obligations on a dominant provider, ECTEL may, after a declaration of dominance or non-dominance, or a consent to designation of dominance as the case may be, recommend to the Minister responsible for telecommunications, that a dominant telecommunications provider's licence be amended to reflect its status as a dominant or non-dominant provider in a relevant market, and where the Minister accepts the recommendation, the Minister may amend the provider's licence as if the provider had consented to the modification of the licence under section 39 of the Act.

Power of the Minister to amend a licence after declaration by Commission.

(2) Prior to making any recommendation to the Minister under sub-regulation (1), ECTEL shall liaise and consult with the Commission.

(3) Nothing in sub-section (1) is intended to limit, diminish or prejudice the right of the Commission, acting on a recommendation of ECTEL, to regulate the services of a dominant telecommunications provider in accordance with these regulations, where a final declaration of dominance has been made by the Commission.

under paragraph (a), ECTEL may revise the price regulation regime, taking account of any relevant representations made under paragraph (c), and submit a final price regulation regime for adoption by the Commission, provided that, at any time after the conclusion of the consultation period referred to in paragraph (a), ECTEL may recommend the adoption of the price regulation regime, with or without amendment, and the Commission shall either approve or disapprove it, without modification, within 14 days of receipt of such recommendation.

(4) Where approved, the final price regulation regime shall be published by the Commission in the Gazette, a local newspaper of wide circulation in Dominica, and on the website of the Commission, and shall take effect 14 days from the date of publication.
